

Texas Psychiatrist

November 8-10 Join Your Colleagues at TSPP’s Annual Convention

R. Andrew Harper, MD, President, Texas Society of Psychiatric Physicians

I want to encourage you to register today for the Texas Society of Psychiatric Physicians’ 57th Annual Convention and Scientific Program, “Update in Psychiatric Care; Changes and Challenges in Practice” being held in Houston, November 8-10. Dr. Gary Etter and the CME Committee have put together another outstanding scientific program and we will be meeting at the new Westin Houston Memorial City Hotel. This meeting is an opportunity to network and socialize with colleagues and be involved with the work of TSPP in addition to hearing great speakers as part of the educational activities. The Memorial City location is one of Houston’s most vibrant areas with shopping, dining and nightlife all conveniently nearby.

The meeting gets started Friday with the TSPP committee meetings which provide members with a chance to participate in the advocacy activities of the Society. Most committees are open to all members so feel free to join the groups that catch your interest. The Friday night opening reception will be with the convention exhibitors and will feature a Poster Session. The Scientific Program kicks off Saturday morning beginning with Dr. David Arciniegas from Baylor College of Medicine speaking on attention and memory impairments following traumatic brain injuries followed by Dr. Kevin Gray from UT Southwestern updating the group on DSM-5’s Major Neurocognitive Disorder diagnosis. After lunch, Dr. Randall Urban, Chair of UTMB Internal Medicine, will discuss hypercalcemia and the program will wrap up with a discussion of Maintenance of Certification by Dr. Robert Guynn of the UT Medical School at Houston and a Director of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. The program continues on Sunday morning with Dr. John Sadler of UT Southwestern discussing psychiatric virtue followed by the ethics/legal presentation by Mari Robinson, JD, Executive Director of the Texas Medical Board discussing relevant statutory and rule changes from the recent legislative session and how these impact Texas physicians.

Please make note of two special offerings at the conference. On Friday afternoon, a session is scheduled for Early Career Psychiatrists and Members In Training titled “Life After Residency: Risk Considerations in Private Practice.” This session will be presented by Moira Wertheimer, BSN, JD from Healthcare Risk Management. The program will address issues of forming a new practice. There is also a mini-workshop on changes to the Texas Mental Health Code held in conjunction with the Texas Academy of Psychiatry to be presented by Dr. Lauren Parsons on Friday.

The Annual Business Meeting Saturday will feature the presentation of the TSPP Special Service Award to Nicole Cooper, MD and the David Pharis Award to Rusk State Hospital for their “Patient Wellness Program.” Elections will also be conducted for elective positions within TSPP and the Foundation. Be sure and join us Saturday night for the Awards Reception and Banquet at the hotel. This year Ms. Lynne Cleveland of Houston will receive TSPP Special Service Awards. Also, Drs. Edward Furber of Fort Worth and Esteban Gonzalez of McAllen will receive the Dr. Spencer Bayles Outstanding TSPP Member award.

All-in-all, an excellent line up for the weekend. Register today if you haven’t already and encourage your colleagues to attend with you. I hope to see you there. ■

83rd Legislative Interim a Hotbed of Mental Health Activities

Eric Woomer, Public Policy Consultant, Federation of Texas Psychiatry

Texas lawmakers have concluded legislative activities for the near term, absent an unexpected call for a fourth special session by Gov. Rick Perry. Most legislators have returned home to their day jobs and to prepare for the upcoming election cycle. Left in their wake are myriad regulatory activities that require attention from the Federation and mental health advocates. Between elections and rulemakings, the involvement of Federation in the legislative process remains critical.

This year, the Legislature passed House Bill 915, requiring greater informed consent for the administration of a psychotropic medication to children in foster care. The Federation testified at length on the bill and met with authors and key stakeholders to ensure that any new reporting requirements were not onerous to physicians.

The Department of Family and Protective Services created a working group to iron out the details of the implementation of H.B. 915. Through this process, the Federation advocated successfully to preserve existing informed consent documentation as presently utilized at each individual point of access. The only new DFPS form that will impact physicians is a one-page generic document to be completed by the consenter and signed by a physician (or their designee) that indicates that statutorily required information was presented prior to treatment. Drs. Nakia Scott and Steven Pliszka were active in these negotiations and their participation and experience was extremely valuable.

In September, the Federation coordinated a meeting between DFPS Commissioner John Specia, DFPS Medical Director Dr. Jim Rogers and Dr. Pliszka to discuss psychotropic prescribing issues and opportunities to enhance the two organizations’ working relationship going forward. Appointed in November, 2012, Comm. Specia has extensive experience in policy issues involving children and families. He served as judge in Bexar County for almost two decades and established the Bexar County Children’s Court and the Family Drug Treatment

Court. He also served as vice-chair of the Supreme Court’s Permanent Judicial Commission for Children, Youth and Families and chair of the Supreme Court Task Force on Foster Care.

In September, DFPS released refined psychotropic medication review parameters for children and youth in foster care. When exceeded, the nine defined parameters indicate for a need to review a patient’s clinical care. The new parameters include four or more psychotropic medications prescribed concomitantly, the prescribing of two or more concomitant stimulants, alpha agonists, antidepressants or antipsychotics, as well as three more concomitant mood stabilizers.

Additional review may also be indicated when psychotropic medications are prescribed for children of very young age, including children under three years of age receiving stimulants or alpha agonists, as well as children less than four years of age being prescribed antidepressants, antipsychotics and mood stabilizers. A complete list of the parameters can be found at: http://www.dfps.state.tx.us/documents/Child_Protection/pdf/TxFosterCareParameters-September2013.pdf.

Earlier this year, the Legislature adopted H.B. 3793, which requires the Department of State Health Services to develop a plan to improve allocation methodologies for outpatient mental health services and beds in state hospitals to patients receiving voluntary services as well as those undergoing competency restoration. The state’s financial commitment of nearly $50 million to eliminate waiting lists for community mental health services is a big factor in terms of availability of resources, as well as a legislatively established pilot program for jail-based competency restoration and the Federation legislative priority of a more robust assisted outpatient treatment program.

An advisory panel is assisting DSHS in developing the plan, and the Federation is participating in those discussions. The panel is holding monthly meetings in anticipation of developing an initial allocation plan by December, 2013. Implementation of the plan is scheduled for December, 2014, with the plan being updated biennially thereafter.

Senate Bill 1842 requires the HHSC rules relating to restraint and seclusion procedures be amended to authorize nurse to conduct a face-to-face evaluation of a patient within one hour after the use of restraint and seclusion, other than the nurse who initiated its use. The rules must also require a physician to conduct a face-to-face evaluation of a patient in the hospital or facility and to document clinical justification for continuing the restraint or seclusion before issuing or renewing an order to do so.

HHSC is currently drafting new rules to implement the law. The draft rules were scheduled to be released for public comment in early September, but internal agency discussions have delayed the draft's release. The Federation is in ongoing communication with HHSC to review and comment on the draft rules, when available. If you have comments or concerns, please contact the Federation office.

Meanwhile, the Federation is leading a coalition of mental health advocacy groups to develop a robust legislative education effort for 2014. The goal of the endeavor is to proactively educate legislators, staff & agency personnel on mental health issue areas, to develop "champions," both Democrat & Republican in the House & Senate, and to identify priority agency activities and personnel.

Early activities identified thus far include determining from legislators, staff & agencies what information would be helpful to them in developing policies, which will help the Federation target messages that resonate among policymakers, as well as to develop a schedule for legislative outreach during 2014. Key elements of outreach include as many as five "one on one" meetings per month with specific targeted lawmakers and a series of "Mental Health 101" sessions, particularly for new lawmakers.

In addition, the Federation is working on developing anti-Scientology one-pagers and materials for educating lawmakers and their staff about the true agenda of the Citizen's Commission on Human Rights and their affiliation with Scientology.

On the political front, 2014 is shaping up to be one of the most active (and expensive) campaign seasons in recent memory. Virtually all statewide offices (Governor, Lt. Governor, Attorney General, Comptroller, Land Commissioner and Agriculture Commissioner) are up for grabs. In fact, the only incumbent running for their current seat is Lt. Governor David Dewhurst, who faces a crowded primary field and has an uphill battle to retain his office.

There are a significant number of House and Senate defections as well. So far, thirteen House members and four Senators will not be returning, having filed for another office or announced their retirement. Several others will be facing stiff challengers in their re-election efforts. A fifth Senator who drew a four-year term is running for higher office, meaning that if he wins, he will vacate his Senate seat and trigger a special election. Three other similarly situated Senators are considering a run for statewide office but have not yet announced, which could lead to as many as eight new Senators.

Moreover, some of the defections are key legislators who have been immensely helpful on mental health issues during their tenure. Rep. John Davis (R – Harris County) has been a stalwart advocate for increased mental health funding, and even sponsored the resolution honoring the Federation's "Mental Health Day at the Capitol" this past February. Rep. Jim Pitts (R – Ellis County) is also hanging up his spurs. He is the longtime chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and was instrumental in helping secure an additional $200 million in mental health spending above the budget baseline. Both men will be missed and should be thanked for their service.

Legislative turnover is nothing new, but recently it has reached near-epidemic proportions. Presently, more than half of the Texas House and one-third of the Texas Senate are either first or second term members. When coupled with the latest retirements, it becomes easy to see how important the Federation's legislative education efforts are to protecting and promoting the interests of psychiatry in Texas. There is much stigma and misunderstanding associated with the mentally ill, and the legislative turnover often means that the Federation is forced to fight the same old battles, over the same old misconceived policies and prejudices, year after year, with a new crop of lawmakers.

For this reason, your involvement is critical. Remaining engaged in Federation activities is important, but becoming politically active in your community is the best way to preserve the recent gains we have made in state policy and funding. Please, get to know your state legislators – introduce yourself to them and to their staff, attend their fundraisers, and call and write their offices. Please avail yourself to attending Mental Health Day at the State Capitol in 2015, and coordinate with the Federation to develop a cohesive message about the unique needs of psychiatry as a field of medical practice.

As always, thank you for your participation in the Federation, and please do not hesitate to contact our office with any questions or concerns.
